

PHOTOSTATIC COPY, WATER COMPANY AGREEMENT, SHOWN

The Charter of "Hulmeville Water Co." is Read To Councilmen

VARIETY OF BUSINESS

Tentative Plans for Memorial Day Observance Are Outlined

HULMEVILLE, May 8.—Business transacted by Hulmeville borough council, last evening, was in variety. Members gathered in the town hall on Trenton avenue. Listed as present were: President George Bilger, Orville Morris, George Forster, Willard Bartoe, Harry Beck, and Edward B. Vansant. The session was opened by prayer by the Rev. Edward Stuess.

Secretary, Mrs. Edward Black, read a letter from Hulmeville Park Association, informing that in accordance with wishes of councilmen, there will be no dances held on Sunday evenings at the park. A communication from Penn Valley Publishers gave estimates on proposed plan to codify borough ordinances. The secretary also read the 1950 borough tax report from Tax Collector George M. Dicken. This showing net borough taxes collected of $5,451.09. List of those exempted from taxes was also read.

Council was advised in a letter from the Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, that copies were being forwarded of the planning and policy questions for use by the zoning commission in compiling information and judgments essential to developing of a good zoning plan.

A photostatic copy of the agreement made by "Hulmeville Water Co." in 1924 with Langhorne Water Co., was read by the secretary. The section of this borough to be served with water by that company was outlined. The "Hulmeville Water Co." was later merged with Langhorne Spring Water Co. Council's water committee was instructed to secure from a surveyor the outline of the area within the borough which, under the charter, is entitled to water service.

Treasurer, Miss Grace H. Illick, presented her report. This showed balance in the general fund of $3,112.27; sinking fund, $5,076.13; and highway aid account, $191.95. The highway committee stated that Kaufman Brothers will repair various streets within the borough as soon as material is received. Some sections in need of repair were listed—corner of Main and Hulme; corner of Main and Reetz; Bellevue and Fairview; and hazard listed at Green street bridge. Estimates are to be secured on street name signs. Request was received from a resident of Washington street that entrance to that thoroughfare be widened.

Employees of Bristol Plant To Share in Its Profits

Two hundred and eighty-four employees of the Bristol plant of the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. are to participate in a three-month profit-sharing plan. This does not include bonus checks distributed to those who left their jobs on military leave during the quarter.

Checks for $364,425 were distributed to 6,629 employees in 3M plants and offices in 29 cities. The remaining $158,321 was used to cover the cost of employee hospitalization and disability insurance.

Ambulance Does "Double Duty" Service, Monday

An ambulance of the Bucks County Rescue Squad served double duty last evening about 7:30 while removing Mrs. James Booz, Sr., Green Lane and Mill Creek roads, to her home from Abington Hospital, where she has been a patient for over two weeks.

While travelling along Street road, Eddington, a man signaled for the ambulance to stop. The ambulance crew learned that John Barats, 13, had sustained a severely lacerated wound on his left hand from a power saw. In the same ambulance, he was removed to a Bristol physician's office, where it was decided the boy was in need of hospital care. The crew then transported Mrs. Booz to her home, and journeyed on to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, where the Barats boy was admitted.

RECREATION BUDGETS "VERY INADEQUATE"

So Described Following A State Planning Board Survey

THE NEED IS "SERIOUS"

Following is the second of three exclusive articles by International News Service outlining the need for increased community interest in providing recreational facilities in Pennsylvania.

By Al Spivak
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, May 8.—(INS)—A State Planning Board survey has described most local recreation budgets as "very inadequate" in the face of a need for expanded leisure-hour opportunities.

"A county park or recreational board may solve this problem for many a Pennsylvania area where a coordination of recreation resources is badly needed," reported recreation planning consultant Kenneth W. Abell.

The seriousness of the need is too often underestimated, he said. "The invasion along our highways of types of commercial amusement which represent the least desirable and flashiest element of city life is often a serious problem to our boroughs and small cities and to our rural or suburban areas," he explained.

Efforts to counteract such influences are often beyond the means of an individual community, he pointed out, despite the power to tax for such purposes and the Commonwealth's offer of advice and reimbursement for payment of recreational leaders.

"County recreation planning provides the opportunity to offset such harmful invasions by developing an overall program of healthful outdoor and indoor leisure time activities close at home," asserted Abell. The counties serve their own interest by taking part in these activities, he said, for this reason:

"As a consequence of large movements of population stemming from World War II, every county in Pennsylvania is competing with

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Defense Secretary Marshall and President Truman yesterday defined the differences with General MacArthur as springing from the dismissed commander's demand for extending the war against Communist China at the risk of starting a new world war and wrecking the coalition of Western allies.

Secretary Marshall told the Senate inquiry that not even the MacArthur plan could bring an early end to the Korean fighting. A "fundamental divergence" between General MacArthur's judgment and that of those setting United States policy, he said, reached a crisis when General MacArthur offered the enemy an armistice in the field at the moment that President Truman had about finished clearing his plan for a truce with the other allied nations.

It was because General MacArthur, who had always followed military directives, had ignored those against public statements on policy that he was removed, Secretary Marshall said. The Secretary disputed General MacArthur at all points and said the Joint Chiefs' statement the former commander has relied on contained sixteen points and not only the four that had been quoted.

THE WAR

By Howard Handleman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, May 8.—(INS)—Allied troops punched out fresh gains ranging up to three and a half miles along both flanks of the Korean front today in an assault designed to upset Communist preparations for a renewed offensive.

In the ridge-creased center of the peninsula, United Nations tank-infantry patrols roamed northward unopposed as they hunted elusive Chinese forces which had abandoned the big base of Chunchon.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced in a Tuesday night communiqué that its forces at the west end of the battlefield continued their advance up the Kimpo peninsula northwest of Seoul during the day.

On the other side of Korea, the bulletin said, further "moderate advances" were backed out by Allied troops in the east central sector where a Red battalion was thrown into retreat.

The enemy battalion withdrew in the area east of Inje which is four miles inside North Korea and 27 miles inland from the east coast.

Along the rugged central front, the Eighth Army said, Allied patrols thrusting close to the 38th Parallel were unable to catch up with Communist troops Tuesday. The bulletin said there was no contact with any sizeable enemy units in that area.

South Korean troops set the pace for the new UN northward drive in its second day.

"CLEAN-UP" WEEK GETS AN OFFICIAL START

Program, Extending To May 19th, Has Been Well Organized

SEEK CO-OPERATION

Bristol's third annual "Clean Up" week officially got underway Saturday. The program, extending to May 19th, has been well organized, and it is expected that it will be very productive of results. The cooperation of all the residents in the area is solicited. The campaign has been endorsed by civic and borough officials. Retail establishments are requested to make a careful check-up of unused containers and debris that might have accumulated during the winter months.

A fire safety check-up for a store is as important as a periodic physical examination. Fire Chief Hagerman said today in urging business men to join the Bristol Chamber of Commerce's borough-wide Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up Program.

"Trouble spots in a store are easy to spot," he said.

MONTHLY MEETING

EDDINGTON, May 8.—The monthly meeting of Bensalem Taxpayers Association will be held May 14th, at eight p. m. in O. Trembski's hall, Doris avenue and Street road (across from Buehl Field). This is said to be an important meeting. The association urges all taxpayers of Bensalem township to attend the meeting of Bensalem township school board tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in Bensalem Heights school building, Cornwells Heights.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Truman told national civilian defense leaders, "is to try to prevent atomic war," in which many bombs would fall on this country, and to the dismissed commander's demand for extending the war against Communist China at the risk of starting a new world war and wrecking the coalition of Western allies.

Secretary Marshall told the Senate inquiry that not even the MacArthur plan could bring an early end to the Korean fighting. A "fundamental divergence" between General MacArthur's judgment and that of those setting United States policy, he said, reached a crisis when General MacArthur offered the enemy an armistice in the field at the moment that President Truman had about finished clearing his plan for a truce with the other allied nations.

It was because General MacArthur, who had always followed military directives, had ignored those against public statements on policy that he was removed, Secretary Marshall said. Bernard's brother Michael, seven, awoke to find the young boy's feet dangling from the upper half of their double-bunk bed. The child had slipped through the space between the mattress and a bar along

THIS IS WHERE WE CAME IN

The Truman staff does the darndest things. For instance, they run their mistakes over and over again, like phonograph records, or like movie reels. Take price controls. We are right back where we were five years ago. Same problem, same reasons, same fake remedies—and ahead lie the same confusions and annoyances and the same lack of results.

Once more the successor to the OPA is trying that old grandstand trick of "rolling back prices." The prices are even on the same commodity that had the center of the stage in the summer of 1946—meat prices. The only difference is that this time it isn't Chester Bowles, but Michael V. DiSalle, who's trying to make water run up hill. But the main character is the same—President Truman. He was the man who made the trouble in 1946, and he is the man who has made the trouble today, and both times he is the magician who promises to do the impossible.

For of course "impossible" is the only word which describes these fantastic efforts to roll back one single line of prices while all other prices, wages, costs, taxes, etc., etc., are to be permitted to occupy their new and higher levels.

Surely no one in his right mind really believes it can be done. Probably not even Mr. Truman. But he is willing to compromise on results if he can get an "E" for Effort from the American public. He hopes that the housewives of America will forget that he is that individual who produced all the price troubles, in their happiness over the idea that he is in there pitching, trying to strike out Old Man Inflation while that gentleman is already rounding the bases running out his homer.

Mr. Truman was to blame for the price breakthrough in 1946. He refused to compromise with Congress on

"Wings Over Africa" Is Film Shown Lions Club

The meeting of the Lower Bucks Lions Club (formerly Andalusia Lions) was held at Tally-Ho Inn, Bensalem township, on Thursday evening. The meeting was opened by president, Stanley Smith. After dinner, Mr. Smith called on Raymond Vickers, chairman of Lions education committee, who spoke concerning the need for the club to raise money for educational purposes.

President Smith called on Norman Cook for a report on arrangements made for the state convention, May 20 to 23. Mr. Cook reminded the men that their representative at the convention will be past president Francis Rossbauer.

Mr. Rossbauer, program chairman, presented a film entitled "Wings Over Africa," which depicted an expedition across Africa by auto. Vincent Cooke, a member-at-large, was a visitor.

ZONING CODE CHANGES UNDER DISCUSSION

Middletown Supervisors To Require Developers To Hard-Surface Streets

3 ATTEND THE SESSION

LANGHORNE, May 8.—Various proposed changes in the zoning code for Middletown township were discussed when supervisors of Middletown township met in the supervisors' office, Hulmeville road and Richardson avenue, last evening.

It is stated by the supervisors that numerous requests have been received for changes in the zoning set-up, especially from "R-A" (agricultural) to "R-2" (residential), this being in the main reduction in lot size from one acre to about four residences to the acre. Various other changes were discussed. The supervisors are now advertising in the public press in preparation for planned changes. Middletown township zoning code went into effect in February, 1948.

Requests were received by supervisors from various groups for financial aid for Memorial Day observance.

Changes are to be made in the road ordinance, it is announced. In the future developers are to be required to place streets in their developments in hard-surfaced condition before such will be accepted by supervisors.

Albert P. Darrah presided. Others present were secretary R. H. Seales and J. Russell Newbold.

PEOPLE-PACKED PLANET

If the United States seems to be filling up—and it's certain that Americans have less elbow room than they once did—the phenomenon is not exactly unique. So is the world. New statistics gathered by the United Nations (so that's what it has been doing) say that with emphasis.

During the last three decades, according to UN "Population experts," the number of human beings on this planet has risen from an estimated 1,834,000,000 to an estimated 2,378,000,000. The total population of the globe rose by an average of approximately 1 per cent a year during that period. If this rate of increase is maintained there will be twice as many people a century from now as there are today.

In the year 2051, then, there may be around 4,750,000,000 individuals on this terrestrial ball—to use what sounds like a most appropriate phrase from an old hymn. That's a lot of humankind. It's fairly obvious that if the earth cannot support its present population in reasonable comfort, tremendous advance will be necessary if it is to feed, house and clothe twice as many people.

Is such an advance possible? Merely to live in the United States is to realize that the world can be made to produce more abundantly than some pessimists can imagine. Americans have made their share of this continent support 150,000,000 people at an unprecedented standard of comfort. Perhaps the miracle can be accomplished.

But future generations will inhabit a more crowded sphere. Those unfettered souls that must have the great open spaces will have only the deserts or the oceans.

NO BENEFIT IN EXERCISE

The middle-aged man who sees no point in taking daily exercise, not even to the extent of an occasional golf game, but prefers to spend his leisure time in an easy chair, will derive satisfaction from the results of an interesting experiment conducted by the University of Minnesota and intended primarily to garner information on heart disease.

More than 300 men volunteered as guinea pigs for the experiment. They included fats and leans—all middle-aged, business and professional men.

Put through all sorts of physical activities, even to running on a treadmill, they were given 56 different physical tests, including blood pressure, pulse rate and heart action. The big, strong, athletic type was found to be in no better physical condition than those whose only exercise consisted in walking to their automobiles.

Nor did the fat boy show up too badly, although it was suggested that he should be a bit more careful to have his heart examined occasionally because of his weight.

The late Chauncey Depew, who lived to a ripe old age, said the only exercise he took was acting as pallbearer for his golf-playing friends.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—State Department plans for the American Politburo are complete. Patterned after the boss-gang in the Kremlin that controls the Soviet Union, the Administration's High Lama, Super-President, and Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, would run the show.

In Russia, the Politburo controls the Red army, propaganda, prices and production. It allocates aircraft, arms and ammunition to selected areas, diverts raw materials and finished goods. It calls the turn on foreign policy and directs global strategy. In other words, the Politburo is an iron-clad dictatorship, beholden only to Premier Stalin, whose main function is to settle arguments between state planners.

Super-President Acheson, who never ran for public office in his life and couldn't get elected if he did, has a packaged Politburo ready to shove down Congressional throats. It gives him everything Stalin has in the way of power, subject, of course, to a final stamp of approval from President Truman. No one in Washington need have evidence that the President ever has turned, or will turn, his back on Acheson. In fact, most of the other bureaucrats have learned the hard way, and won't even take their disputes with the Super-President to Mr. Truman.

Paul G. Hoffman, former head of the ECA, in commenting on his experience in the Government when he tangled with the State Department, admitted that "nobody likes to take his troubles to the President."

Here is what Acheson has or expects to get within a few weeks in the way of control of the nation:

1. He is undisputed boss of the nation's foreign policy. He announced this week, after a conference with President Truman, that we would continue indefinitely to fight a handcuffed war in Korea.
2. He controls the actions and public utterances of the Department of Defense, including policy planning by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.
3. He controls a vast propaganda

Rigby Resigns As President Of Cornwells Fire Company

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 8.—The regular meeting of the Cornwells Fire Co. No. 1, was held Thursday evening with President J. Alfred Rigby, Jr., in the chair. One new member was elected, namely Louis C. Krouse. Elliott Dietrich, chairman of the building committee, complimented the men for the great progress they have made in erecting the new building. He stated that if the men turn out like they have done the last two weeks, that the company will occupy the new building late in August instead of October. Calvin Freas, chief of the Marine Association, reported two calls in the month of April, one in Torresdale and one at Morrisville. Also, the company will go to Titusville, N. J., Thursday evening for a drill. Samuel Lochard, chief of Fire Police, reported next meeting Wednesday evening, May 16, at Pennedel. Chief William Ervin gave the fire report as two cars, 8 fields, 10 calls in all. At this time, J. Alfred Rigby, Jr., resigned as president of the company. Edgar C. Bekes, vice-president, then took the chair replacing Mr. Rigby. C. Warren Poston was elected vice-president for the remainder of the year. A report was taken of by 52 members after the meeting.

Mr. Rigby's written resignation follows:
"Fellow Firemen:
"During the past ten years it has been my privilege to be a member of the Cornwells Fire Co. No. 1, all of which were in the capacity of an officer except my time in the service. While now serving my sixth term as president, I recognize our progress and growth to a place comparable to any other in our county.
"I have been impressed by the freedom with which our democratic processes work within our company permitting controlled debate by all members even to extreme degrees and yet in no way destroying the friendships and amicable associations that will long endure.

"Amid feelings of heartfelt regret in certain respects, I now find the tendering of my resignation as president of both our Fire Company and Firemen's Relief Association inevitable. In order to pursue my livelihood in my chosen field, it now becomes necessary for me to move several hundreds of miles from our vicinity rendering the execution of my office a physical impossibility.

"During our association, I have absorbed a portion of your respective personalities and perhaps you, of mine. This I shall miss to a greater extent than anything else. I regret my inability to further participate in the greatest program we have undertaken. As you progress, you will receive a greater, more worthy public support which you justly deserve. I am certain that the accomplishment of this program will be a reality before the year end with your continued cooperation.
In our vice-president, we have a man fully capable of discharging the responsibilities of the office of president with a copious supply of willingness for the common good. I am certain that he will cooperate in every respect with the will of the majority and I trust that you will extend to him the same degree of cooperation.
"I should feel remiss if I were to close without stating sincerely that I have been personally gratified and truthfully appreciate the help and cooperation that you have given me in the fulfillment of my responsibilities throughout the years. I shall aspire to retain my membership and association in the years to come and hope to be welcomed whenever I am able to return.

"With sincerest regards and best wishes to your continued well being, I remain,
Respectfully yours,
(signed)

■ The "Country Squire" is one station wagon that's really "all-purpose"! On a moment's notice, it can be converted from a beautiful, smooth-riding eight passenger car to a rugged hauler of half-ton loads. Its "Slow-away" center seat folds flush with the floor to give you flat-deck loading space over 9 feet deep. It's solid-steel paneled for extra safety. And you get your pick of V-8 or Six power.

■ If you want to own a real style leader... with the finest coachwork with lasting quality, don't dig needlessly deep into your bank account—just order a Ford Victoria. It offers the wide open freedom of a convertible... the snug comfort of a steel topped sedan, plus V-8 engine power. You get your choice of 5 solid colors or 5 two-tone combinations, with Luxury Lounge Interiors "Color-keyed" to match.

■ Here's an open and shut case why you can pay more but you can't buy better than Ford! A look will tell you that no convertible has more beauty to offer. A "Test Drive" will tell you that none can give you a finer ride. For Ford's Automatic Ride Control laughs at the bumps... adjusts ride to road conditions. And you get fine-car V-8 power... with Automatic Mileage Maker fuel savings.

gradual and orderly decontrol of the OPA, and tried to insist on permanent price regulation. When he vetoed the OPA extension bill that his own associates told him was the best he could get, and left the nation without any price controls whatever, prices soared. Then when he finally accepted another OPA bill, distinctly inferior to the first, he undertook to beat the meat prices down again.

He and his staff were loud in their insistence that they would succeed in rolling back the meat prices, but an editorial in these columns on August 24, 1946, accurately summarized and forecast the situation:

"The rollback in meat is the new OPA's sop to those who demand low prices regardless of cost of production. It is bound to make trouble. The weaknesses are numerous. The worst flaw is that meat itself is to be price controlled, but the price of feed (which is simply meat in its raw state) is to be left open. Farmers and other meat producers are put in an impossible squeeze. There are ceilings on prices, none on costs."

In the main, that statement applies to today's effort to roll back meat prices just as correctly as it did in 1946. At that time, such criticisms were heatedly denied by all Truman followers—but the sequence of events proved the criticisms to be accurate. A week after the above editorial appeared, the OPA raised the meat prices it had just rolled back, in a desperate effort to stave off disaster. But meat had meanwhile disappeared from all counters except those of the blackmarket, and on October 14 President Truman surrendered to the inevitable and called off all controls on meat. Thereafter, incidentally, the situation fairly rapidly corrected itself.

Today meat prices, like all other prices, have gone skyhigh because a year ago President Truman failed to do his obvious duty—failed to invoke price and wage controls the moment that the Korean War made shortages and inflationary pressures inevitable. Last January, the price and wage controls were imposed belatedly. They were painless, because they froze wages and prices at the top." Since then there has been a steady retreat in the wage freeze, permitted them to inch higher and higher. But after long jockeying with prices, trying to please both buyer and seller, the Truman Administration has taken the bit in its teeth and is attempting a sort of slow-motion, delayed action rollback for the always sensitive item of meat.

Because the real rollback is all in the future tense, and because nothing has really happened yet, of course the effects haven't yet shown up. But the moment the squeeze goes on, the same effects will appear as demoralized the country in 1946—meat famines, black-markets, a strike on the farms on breeding meat animals, vast quantities of meat disappearing into hard-to-trace freezers, etc., etc.

The one thing you may be certain will not happen is that you will be able to go to your regular butcher and get good meat at rolled-back prices.

Meanwhile, the genial Mr. DiSalle (of whom it has been said that if he hadn't a sense of humor he couldn't stand his job, but if he had commonsense he wouldn't stand it) and the spokesmen of agriculture are talking at great length, and not about the same thing. Mr. DiSalle says over and again that nothing in the way of shortages or blackmarkets have happened yet—which is true enough, but then, neither has there been a price rollback worth counting. And the meat dealers are predicting dire consequences when and if the rollback takes effect—a future situation about which Mr. DiSalle continues to be evasive.

15 DAYS FURLOUGH

Cpl. Michael E. Ryan, of the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., arrived home Thursday to spend a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Ryan, 102 Carnarvan avenue, Bristol township. Cpl. Ryan enlisted in the Air Force January 3rd. He is a graduate of St. Mark's school and Trenton (N. J.) Catholic high school. At the time of his enlistment, he was employed as laboratory technician with Victor Chemical Works, Morrisville.

This new 182,000-kilowatt generating unit recently installed by Philadelphia Electric Company is the world's largest single-shaft turbine.

POWERHOUSE OF PLENTY

Philadelphia Electric's advance planning is paying off to-day not only in ability to supply all present business, industry, and residential power needs but also in real preparedness for the future.

There's plenty of power for around-the-clock defense production . . . plenty of power for this area's fast expanding industry . . . and plenty, too, for the new plants and the new homes that are coming.

This powerhouse of plenty is a reality because Free Enterprise permits us to work without interference in the service of the public.

ELECTRICITY IS STILL THE LOWEST PRICED NECESSITY IN THE FAMILY BUDGET

Township Woman Training Horses

within a year—that her trainer ideas were just a strong case of pony love. But Shirley's dead serious about proving a disfinder can invade a tough men's racket and make good.

Proof that Miss Stanley has something on the ball comes from the approving glances—mixed with frequent winks—given her as she dangles her way through work at the Camden course.

Shirley said the routine of training horses for Moses and herself doesn't keep her as active as she likes.

"I just can't sit still," she said. So Miss Stanley solves this crisis every day by also:

Galloping horses during the early morning hours at Garden State Park; training and galloping horses at Moses' farm during mid-afternoon; helping operate a nursery partnership on the Dunnoven Farm of Mrs. Catherine Willis at Fallsington, near Bristol and caring for a yearling, three sucklings and a broodmare at her Bristol headquarters, the Pine Lawn Farm of Dr. E. J. Laine, veterinarian.

When her day's work is finished about 8 p. m. she goes riding for "pleasure" for at least an hour.

Miss Stanley's fun day—"I love it," she said—starts at 4:15 A. M. and ends at 10 P. M. This prompted a clocker to tell her: "If you break briskly from the bed in the morning, that leaves you six hours and 15 minutes breezing to sleep."

"Well, not quite," Shirley replied. "I usually read an hour or two before I go to sleep."

The current No. 1 horse love of Miss Stanley's life is an unraced two-year-old colt named Ed. V. Sullivan. She has high hopes for the juvenile and plans to bring him to the races at Garden State Park before the spring meeting ends on Memorial Day.

A shapely, dark-haired girl, Shirley is married to Howard (Hash) Weinstein, owner-trainer currently campaigning at Jamaica.

They have one child, a three-year-old daughter, Sherry. What would Shirley like her daughter to become when she grows up?

"Oh, anything she decides on. I'd never try to influence her life," Shirley said.

Whereupon, Shirley Stanley—girl trainer, rider and breeder—smiled and testified with a tinge of guilt in her voice: "But I did teach Sherry to ride before she could walk."

Miss Alice Rollin Is Bride of Wm. S. Paul

LANGHORNE, May 8—Miss Alice A. Rollin, a member of the faculty of Neshaminy joint school district, was wed on Saturday at three p. m. to Mr. William S. Paul, 211 E. Maple avenue, son of Mr. Stanley Paul, of Miami, Fla. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rollin, Bellevue avenue, was given in marriage by her father.

The Rev. Robert Rodich officiated at the ceremony in Langhorne Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Harry Friedrich presiding at the organ console.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Bradford A. Randall, sister of the bride; and Mr. Frank Schrack, of Columbia. Ushers were Messrs. Bradford A. Randall, Langhorne; William Cloak, of Parkland.

Following a reception at Tully-Ho, Bensalem township, Mr. and Mrs. Paul left for a trip through New York state and parts of Canada. They will reside with the bride's parents. The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Langhorne-Middleton high school, the former graduating from West Chester State Teachers College, and the latter from Millersville State Teachers College.

Pennsbury Visitors On Sunday Number 1,152

TULLYTOWN, May 8—A total of 1,152 persons visited William Penn's restored home, "Pennsbury," on Sunday.

During the past few days, there were the following groups of visitors at the Manor: Wissahickon Valley Chapter of Pennsylvania Gardeners; 25 pupils of West Chester high school; General Freeling-huyser Chapter, D. A. R. of Somerville, N. J.; 4th grade of Smith School, Burlington, N. J.; the Geography Council of Reading.

Two Langhorne Manor Streets To Be Resurfaced

LANGHORNE MANOR, May 8—Nine members of Langhorne Manor council met last evening at the home of William Rumpf, Jr. One member was absent, William Rumpf, Sr. Presiding over the session was William Rumpf, Jr.

Decision was made to repair all streets, which had been damaged by the winter weather. Gilliam avenue is to be resurfaced; also Prospect avenue between Station and Hummelville avenues.

A committee was appointed to consider installation of "speed signs" on Station and Highland avenues.

Bills were ordered paid. The following were in attendance: Burgess Dr. A. Wixon; secretary, Mrs. Lillian Metcalf; treasurer, L. Nielsen; councilmen: William Rumpf, Jr., William Meltrum, William Engle, Phillip Hoffman, Robert King, Dr. Henry Stover.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. William E. Hakes
Pastor
First Baptist Church

"THY WORD have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee." If your sins have been washed away by the precious blood of the Lord Jesus and you know Him as Savior and Lord, then you are safe in Him forevermore. God has a plan whereby He is able to communicate His will. His grandest desires, to His children. This plan is contained in the book we call the Bible. It is God's Holy Word. After we have come to know Christ as Savior, we ought to have a holy desire to know God's will and plan for our lives as individual Christians. The will of God is in the Bible so simple told that even children should understand it. Learn to read the Bible regularly. At least once a day find a set time when you can be alone with your Bible. Read the Bible prayerfully. We must be in the right spirit as we read that we may not misinterpret the meaning of God's sacred truth. Read it personally. That is, apply the truths in the Word of God to your own life. Say as you read, "How does this fit into my life?" Read the Bible through. It is amazing the number of Christian folk who have never read the Bible completely through. Decide to do that very thing. God will richly bless you for it. Remember each day God has a new and fresh word to give you. It is found in the Bible. Read the Word of God. Memorize it. For this is exactly what the psalmist did when he wrote, "Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against thee."

Burgess Leon R. Conly informed council that as regards Memorial day observance, "it appears the borough is on its own," he adding that the Jesse W. Soby Post, American Legion, Langhorne, will not be participating locally as a unit this year. There was brief discussion on the securing of a musical organization. Council allocated $125 to the Memorial day committee for expenses. Samuel J. Illick, who is heading this committee, told of tentative plans. The speaker will be the Rev. Mr. Hyde, rector-elect of Grace Episcopal Church. Exercises will be held in Memorial Park. It is asked that all servicemen and ex-servicemen, who can do so, take part in the parade, in uniform. The line of march will be from the corner of Main and Reetz to Memorial Park. Children marching will be treated at William Penn Fire Co. station. Councilman Foerst volunteered to donate a flag for use at Memorial Park. The park has recently been power-rolled, and caretaker there for the season is Thomas Buckley. The Memorial day committee was instructed to arrange for planting of flowers at the park at least 10 days before that holiday.

President Bilger informed that councilmen have met with school directors on various occasions recently to discuss the financial situation, particularly as it affects the school district. School director E. M. Linforth stated that the hope is that proposed state legislation will aid the six-district set-up in the problem facing it as far as new school building is concerned. Progress was reported by Mr. Linforth in the financial problem.

Chief of Police Ernest Maret made his report for the past month as follows: five stop-sign violations, one being in Middletown township; three arrested on reckless driving charges; one boy found operating car minus driver's license and without consent of car owner; warrant issued for Newportville resident whose dog was found running at large in this borough, fine imposed; one car stolen and recovered in Philadelphia.

Bills ordered paid are as follows: Hart Jamison, copy of water company charter, $2.50; Weller & Weller, power-rolling of park, $10; Ferdinand Reetz, special and regular trash collections, $65; Philadelphia Electric Co., current, $39.41; Chief of Police Maret, $27; Thomas Buckley, care of park, $15; Maryland Casualty Co., $161.60; Bristol Printing Co., printing, $25.50; Delaware Valley Advance, advertising, $17.10; George M. Dicken, commission, $4.10.

Don't blame the butcher for the price of meat

Compare the cost of your telephone service with the cost of other things, and you'll agree that telephone service is a bargain.

Take your household expenses, for example. What you pay for vegetables, fruit, and meat for a single day is probably more than you pay for a full month of telephone service.

Don't blame the grocer or the butcher. Blame the dollar. In terms of what it will buy, the dollar is worth less today than ever before.

The dollar is pinching us, too. The cost of running the telephone household has been going up and up.

In spite of all this, we have been able to provide good telephone service at low cost. This hasn't been easy. But even if it should cost more, your telephone service, in comparison with other things, would still be a bargain.
